

SGT UNIVERSITY

SHREE GURU GOBIND SINGH TRICENTENARY UNIVERSITY

(UGC Approved University)

GURGAON, Delhi-NCR

Awareness and Conservation of Wetlands

At

Sultanpur Village, Gurugram

Organized

by

Faculty of Science

SGT University, Gurugram

On

04th February, 2020

Awareness and Conservation of Wetlands
At
Sultanpur Village, Gurugram
Organized
by
Faculty of Science
SGT University, Gurugram
On
04th February, 2020

Organizers:

Community Service Committee of Faculty of Science

Objective:

To create awareness regarding conservation of wetlands

About the Speaker/Guest:

Students and the Teachers of Faculty of Science

Brief Report:

On the occasion of World Wetlands Day, Community service members, Faculty of Science, SGT University, Gurugram organized a visit on 4th of February, 2020 to Sultanpur Village. M.Sc. EVS Students (Nancy and Annu) under the supervision of Dr. Simranjeet Singh & Dr. Archana Chaudhary interacted with villagers on the topic: Importance of Wetlands and preventive measures to protect degradation of wetlands by human activities by showing short videos and power point presentation. The students discuss the issues and problems faced by villagers so that they may work on problems by providing solutions and effective measures.

The Participants involved were:

1. Community Service Committee Members:
Dr. Archana Chaudhary,
Dr. Simranjeet Singh
2. Students:
M.Sc. EVS (Final year) students : Nancy and Annu

Awareness on importance of wetlands by FOSC students to Villagers

M.Sc. Students(FOSC) giving awareness about wetlands to Sultanpur Villagers